

CONGREGATION OR CHADASH RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

JB
INTERIOR DESIGN, Inc.

In 2006, this young and steadily growing congregation asked JB Interior Design to help bring a religious school onto their recently purchased campus site. Since completion, the school has become an integral part of the congregation and provides curriculum for all levels and ages of students. The bulk of school traffic is generated by pre b'nai mitzvah students in grades 3 – 7; however, groups of all ages ranging in size from 4 to 30 come for lectures, seminars, adult education and committee meetings. The overall programming requirements for the school included:

- A general atmosphere that reflected the school's non-secular connection, rather than institutional.
- Natural light and views for all classrooms.
- Moveable furniture for maximum flexibility and diversity of use. At least four classrooms needed to accommodate seating for up to 30 students.

- All areas had to be barrier-free in concept and dimension.
- Ample floor space to accommodate breaking out into "center" type activities.
- The variety of age groups had different furniture/technology requirements.
- Maximize storage space.
- Colorization of interior and exterior based on colors of logo.
